

ENCORE OFFICE SYSTEMS

Encore office systems Pvt. Ltd. Participated in the Inside outside Mega Show which was organized by Business India Exhibitions which was the complete show on interior design, furniture, furnishings and building materials.

We, you.....and a uniting passion!

Effective communication is about appearing good, doing well and talking sense. And the furniture that occupies your 'space', whether office, public place, recreation area or home, forms a strong background to all the appearing, doing and talking that takes place there.

We, at Encore Office Systems, understand this and also understand space. That too in five dimensions. Length, breadth, height, time and feeling. The space where you put furniture defines its need not only in terms of square feet and ceiling height but also in terms of how long you, your employees and colleges, people, visitors, friends and family spend there. And the 'feeling' that space and its handling evokes in them.

Our level of involvement in understanding this concept and designing furniture that stands true to it is fired not merely by business sense. It is more of a passion that impels us into the realm of 'feeling' and 'time'. Encore Office Systems has for long been producing and selling propriety office furniture, modular work stations, desks for meetings and conferences, storage systems and furniture for reception/visitor/recreation areas. And having done this long enough, we have perfected the way our organization works, right from conceptualization to designing to production to marketing and finally to after-sales-service.

Over the years we have attained a level of competency and flexibility in design and production processes to justifiably class ourselves as 'Interior Customizers'. What we need from you is just space and a dream of filling it to your liking. We shall do the rest for you. And assuredly, the results shall be better than what your nebulous dreams had been made of. We have one of the most complete production facilities with an 'all-process-in-house' capability that inspires confidence and oozes assurance. It is not incidental that Encore Office Systems is ISO 9001 certified almost all through its long and illustrious existence.

